Church Mission Statement of The Drive Methodist Church

The Drive Methodist Church aims to be faithful to the commandments of Jesus, and the calling of the Methodist Church.

The calling of the Methodist Church is to respond to the gospel of God's love in Christ and to live out its discipleship in worship and mission, and to fulfil the promises detailed in the Methodist worship book.

Provide a weekly opportunity for all people to worship God in Christ, here at The Drive Methodist Church.

Enable people to grow and learn as Christians through mutual support and care.

Be a good neighbour to the immediate and wider community. Sharing our faith with others through pastoral care, church activities and communication.

A Message from Reverend Bernadino

June 2022

To: the congregations of the Barking, Dagenham and Ilford Circuit

Dear Friends

I greet you in name of our Saviour Christ. I am writing to inform you of decisions taken by the Circuit Meeting last week.

After a process of consultation, in which many of you will have participated in your local churches, and some at a Circuit Consultation Workshop that we held at Goodmayes Methodist Church, the Circuit Meeting agreed to accept a recommendation from that process.

The recommendation suggested, was that the Circuit should have three staff members, seven churches, and one or two community centres.

This will enable the Circuit to slim down to its reality and save resources, that can be used for mission instead.

The vote at the meeting was unanimous.

The Circuit also agreed to start implementing the three staff members from September 2023. As a result, when I retire, I will not be replaced.

This action means that the manse which I occupy, will be refurbished as per the quinquennial report at a rough estimate of between £60,000-£80,000 which cannot be done using the Circuit reserves.

With my exit, the Circuit will save at least £50,000, which can be applied to the refurbishment.

I wish the Circuit success as we move into the implementation phase of the vision, and I pray that the Lord will enable all of us to be open to God's working in our Circuit.

Continue to be blessed,

Revd Bernardino Mandlate
Circuit Superintendent

Church Family News

We remember our own young people, many of whom have been working tirelessly in preparation for their exams and assessments. Good luck to you all.

Somehow TDY have found time to work with Mike and develop the church website. We now have an Instagram page, which you must call 'INSTA' otherwise you will give away your advanced age. Take a look at the home page of the website and you will see that Mike has installed a shiny new button. This is the link to the new Instagram page that TDY are running.

Don't be fooled that I am knowledgeable.....I am only repeating what Rochelle has reported. See page 17 for further details

Take a Look

We send our love and very best wishes to Collins Frimpong—Manso as he takes the next step on his journey into the ministry.

I'm happy to report that our friends Brian and Oli have recovered from the falls they had in June. Unfortunately, Josie, is still feeling uncomfortable and fragile but is receiving the best of care from her family.

Sophia, is now with her family in Ghana where she will be able to attend the funeral of her brother.

We remember Marlene and send our love as she adjusts to life without Henry.

Please pray for Pauline, Michelle's sister who has a cancer diagnosis and is awaiting treatment.

By the time you read this Sandra F should be back home from hospital where she has been since April. We are thankful she is recovered and look forward to seeing her in church once again.

We offer our prayers and condolences to Clifford and his family on the recent death of his mother.

My own mother Kathleen thanks you all for your prayers and enquiries about her health. She said she feels like a celebrity. LB

Audrey has been feeling a little fragile of late and we send our love and best wishes and hope we will see her in church again very soon.

Brian and Kathleen's health is changeable and so they take each day as it comes. They remain hopeful that they will be able to return to church in the future.

We send our love and prayers to Sandra R who continues with treatment that at times is uncomfortable.

We remember all in our church circuit who are feeling sad, worried or are ill. Please pray that they will find some peace and comfort.

Celebrating their birthdays this month are:

Michelle Garner on 3rd July

Lynsey Higgins on 4th July

Tim Wright on 29th July

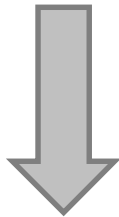

A VERY HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO YOU ALL

WHATS ON.....

Beacontree Heath Church will be holding their summer sale on Saturday 2nd July, from 10.30 am.

Stalls and refreshments (including lunch) will be available.

There will be a dedicated table raising funds for the charity Solving Kids Cancer.

Did you know that Gants Hill Church operates Open Thursday which is a place where anyone in the neighbourhood can go for coffee/tea and chat from 12noon to 4pm!

Free WiFi is also available for visitors.

Church Anniversary and BBQ

Sunday 3rd July is our Church Anniversary. We will be celebrating by having our annual BBQ down at The Rodings. This is on Roding Lane South. You can get the 366 bus there, or if you would like a lift, please see Jo or one of the stewards.

It is a bring and share event, with sausages and burgers too.

Let's hope the sun shines, See you there!

IF YOU HAVE ANY BIG GARDEN GAMES .

PLEASE BRING THEM WITH YOU.

THE SATURDAY LUNCH

As we have the BBQ in July, The Saturday Lunch will resume on 6th August in the parlour. Rather than ask you individually, there will be a list by the coffee hatch for you to add your names. Do please bring a friend if you wish.

The Bible Society at Lambeth Palace

Ilford High Road Methodist Sunday School used to take us to The British and Foreign Bible Society in Queen Victoria St, London. The building was sold and is no longer there.

My friend Eileen in Bexley invited me to the above event on Monday 16th May. There were four excellent speakers, including a Welshman who lives in Woodford Green.

FLEUR DORRELL showed pictures of scripture in art – among others: Giotto, Caravaggio and Ford Maddox Brown. We were each given a photo of his painting ‘Jesus washing Peter’s feet,’ a picture I don’t remember seeing before.

GARETH DAVIES talked about the trauma counselling project—very important in the light of recent events.

NIGEL LANGFORD, who lives in Woodford Green, shared the Bible Society’s domestic mission in England and Wales.

A Lambeth Palace volunteer was to have given a brief history of the place, but someone else showed pictures and gave a commentary.

It was a wonderful experience to be in such beautiful surroundings, very reminiscent of the Palace of Westminster just across the River Thames.

A Prayer for Pride Month

Gracious God,

As during Pride month we are reminded of your love for all people, help all those who experience internalised homophobia because of the burden of their surroundings and trauma of their past.

May the grace and peace of Christ dwell richly in our hearts, so that we may be unburdened by shame, and see ourselves as you truly see us; as your precious and diverse sons and daughters in Christ.

Hear the cries of our hearts and free us by the power of your Holy Spirit. Amen

Thank you from Team Jubilee

We were pleased to hear such positive feedback from everyone who attended our Jubilee Tea Afternoon and supported our fundraising for the Ukraine Appeal. Following the event we were given further donations which brought our final figure to an amazing total of £531.45p. Our grateful thanks to you all.

We would also like to thank everyone who volunteered to help us with the activities and to the Band whose many talents ensured our afternoon went with a 'swing'.

Watch out for a photo display on the church notice

St Barnabas Church Patronal Festival

What better day than 11th June 2022 could there be to have a tea party to display the building plans for the church.

St Barnabas Church, Bexley was built about forty years ago. A structure without toilets, water and originally without electricity was erected nearby at about the same time. It has been used ever since—notably by an art class. It is hoped that a new building in a different location will replace this structure.

My friend Eileen, a member of St Barnabas congregation, invited me to the tea party.

The building plans were set out in two locations. Seating was arranged near the tea trolley and table with cakes. Eileen took groups outside to view the proposed site.

I met church members, the leader of the weekday nursery and the lady who runs the art class. We all learned a lot from the afternoon.

On Sunday 12th June, the curate preached on St Barnabas, the Man who Encouraged. In Acts chapter 11, it says `Barnabas encouraged them all to hold fast to the Lord....for he was a good man.

I'd like to imagine St Barnabas visiting `his church on 11th June. I could see him listening to the people's discussion of the plans, enjoying a cup of tea and cake. Most of all he would encourage them to go on with their vision of the future.

`you ladies may not be as young and fit as you were, but you're HERE and you know what is needed,' he might say.

MCH, Marylebone Road - the end of an era

On the afternoon of 25th May I attended an event at Methodist Church House to mark the closure of the building at 25 Marylebone Road. Upon arrival we were invited to explore the pilgrimage journey of exhibits, video, photos and stories on each floor.

The afternoon included a worship service celebrating God and the work of MCH. It followed a pilgrimage theme through four stages: The Journey begins, The Pilgrim Path, Holy Encounter and The Next Journey Begins. With hymns and prayers, the service was led by a number of people including the Revd Michaela Youngson, Asst Secretary of the Conference, and at the time of writing, the President and Vice-president of the Conference, the Revd Sonia Hicks and Mrs Barbara Easton. A representative of the staff, mission partners and wider connexion gave their memories. It was a lovely and moving service, and, although sad, a celebration of all the work undertaken at MCH. At the end of the afternoon we were all given an afternoon tea picnic box.

I joined the Connexional Team at MCH in 2001. My first job was as administrator for the editor of Flame magazine, Philippa Normanton. When Flame ceased publication in 2004 I became administrator to the Revd Micky Youngson in her role as Secretary for Pastoral Care and Spirituality . When the Team restructured in 2008, I was redeployed as an administrator in the Mission and Advocacy office where I remained until I retired in 2020.

Work on a new mission house in Marylebone Road started in 1939 and the Methodist Missionary Society moved in in 1946 having previously been in Bishopsgate. For a period in World War 2 the BBC also moved in. There were a number of divisional connexional buildings and the decision was taken to restructure all the offices into one Connexional Team. In 1996 the Team (apart from Property) was centralised at 25 Marylebone Road and the building became known as Methodist Church House. With a wide sweeping staircase some of the rooms in the current building have original featured wood from all around the world. The plaques around the bronze front door feature scenes from India, Ceylon, Burma, West Indies and China. Above the door is a frieze made from Portland stone and represents The Fishers of Men designed by David Evans.

On the first floor is a large meeting room, called the Richmond Room, named after the Methodist Training College in Surrey. This room houses four large boards commemorating 125 missionaries who trained at the college, listing their name, place of service, year of entry into the college and year of death.

The first of these missionaries was James H Wayte who, in 1845, volunteered to fill a missionary vacancy in Sierra Leone. He died three months later of a 'violent fever'. Many of the missionaries died prematurely, soon after arriving in their mission station. In the 1850s the most riskiest places to serve were West Africa, West Indies and Honduras. The Richmond College boards made a great impression on German Lutheran pastor and theologian, Dietrich Bonhoeffer when he visited the college in 1934. He would draw attention to the boards to rally the pastors in Germany who were struggling against the state. The Richmond Room also displays a large painting by Henry Perlee Parker showing John Wesley, aged 6, being rescued from a fire at the family home, Epworth Rectory, in 1709. He had a miraculous escape which convinced his mother, Susanna, that her son was a 'brand plucked from the burning'. Also on the first floor is the Chapel displaying lovely stained glass windows. In addition to daily prayers and Holy Communion, the Chapel is always open for staff to use for private prayer. Other meeting rooms in the building are named after past Presidents of Conference, (Thomas) Coke, (Kenneth) Greet, (Kathleen) Richardson, and (Brian) Beck.

I understand that the current team are due to move out later this year and hot desk at the Church of England offices in Westminster. New offices will then become available at Tavistock Square in 2024. I was so pleased to attend the event and it was lovely to see old colleagues and good friends. I had a lot of fun working at MCH and I miss my time there, not least that sweeping staircase. My friend reminded me of how whenever I came down it I would sing the Strictly Come Dancing theme tune and stop on the landings to wave to the imaginary audience! Happy times!

Diane Foster.

A special place and so interesting. Thank you Diane. LB

News from the Religious Education Resources Project

Dear Friends,

As I write this I reflect back on the year I have had with the Religious Education Resources Project and it has again been anything but a normal year. Whilst children have been back in school, absences due to Covid 19 have meant that lessons have been altered, timetables changed and the curriculum disrupted. In many cases RE has been put on the back burner whilst other subjects have had extra catch-up time.

Nevertheless we have still been able to offer advice and assistance to those schools who continue to consider RE and in particular the Christian story, as an important part of their curriculum. To date I have spoken to well over 2200 children this year on aspects such as 'what does it mean to be a Christian?' and 'the inspiration of Jesus'. I always include as many opportunities for discussion as possible within a session as well as covering the learning objectives suggested by the teachers. As we approach the end of term there are church visits to Barkingside and Seven Kings churches and it is good to see these up and running again.

A new agreed RE syllabus has been launched for Redbridge this year and will be implemented in full next September.

Over the summer I will be looking at this and the changes required to my sessions. I will also be working on the Annual Report which will be issued later in the year. Most importantly I need to understand the correct approach to an ever changing environment in education so that as a Circuit we can continue to be a Christian presence in our local schools.

Thank you for all your prayers and support over this year.

God Bless

Iris

My granddaughter, Iris, studies at a centre for children who are dyslexic. Recently my family and I attended an awards evening, at All Saint's Church, Woodford Wells.

It was to celebrate all the children's achievements over the year. Iris was awarded a medal and certificate. We watched some inspirational video clips from Princess Beatrice and Kiera Knightly, who are both dyslexics. The children were told that they were superheroes, and their superpower was called dyslexia. We are very proud grandparents.

Well done, Super Iris

Shirley Erena Murray – hymnwriter

In ten years of using our hymnal Singing the Faith, we have sung just over half of the songs in the book at least once. I had a look through my massive spreadsheet to see what we're missing, and came across the 10 hymns by Shirley Erena Murray, none of which we had used. So we sang StF 408 How small a spark has lit a living fire back in May on Aldersgate Sunday. There is an interesting article about Shirley, who died in January 2020 in Wellington, New Zealand, on the Singing the Faith Plus website. The following is a small extract; type "Singing the Faith Plus Shirley Erena Murray" into your favourite search engine to find the whole article.

Shirley Erena Murray is one of Singing the Faith's ten most represented authors. She is also the only woman within that group. Neither of these facts is insignificant (her name didn't appear at all in the 1983 UK Methodist hymn book, Hymns & Psalms). Undoubtedly more important to Shirley herself, however, was the fact that her work represents the hymnody and voice of her homeland, New Zealand.

Born in 1931 and raised in a Methodist family, Shirley married a Presbyterian minister, John Murray, and some of her earliest hymns were responses to John's need for an apt text to accompany a particular sermon or service.

The reason why I began to write hymns is... connected to the ethos of being a New Zealander. We have an attitude of 'do it yourself' – a kind of pioneer spirit which is not intimidated by too much tradition and actually welcomes inventiveness. It seemed to me that the hymns we sang had no resonance with the world I lived in... there was no imagery that evoked a particular environment, no landscape of thought to accommodate the southern hemisphere (think of 'In the bleak midwinter' in high summer, for example), no connection with the Maori culture of our society, which is officially bicultural, nothing to articulate our own hopes and visions.

Her hymns and carols address a wide spectrum of themes ranging from the seasons of the Church year to human rights, care of creation, women's concerns and above all, peace. "Creating justice and joy means walking into the territory of basic human rights, as Jesus did. It means being aware of our own fragility as well as our planet's, and using technology wisely."

"I have wanted to move to where Christ consciousness as well as Christian conscience meshes with the world I experience in my own life and time. Almost everything I have written revolves, ultimately, round the concept of 'peace' in all its manifestations." Peace, for Shirley Erena Murray, was a many faceted concept, always tied to justice. It included being at one with our environment, as well as with other people.

In the end, Shirley's task, as she saw it, was to write hymns that reflected everyday experience, locally, nationally and globally. "I appreciate and relate to precise and clean language," she wrote, "as opposed to flowery and fudgy. I am, in knitting parlance, a plain rather than purl sort of writer. I like language that gives a jolt of reality."

Let's hope we can explore more of Shirley's hymns soon.

Andrew Taylor.

Thank you Andrew for introducing us to Shirley Erena Murray. LB

Becoming a Dementia Friendly Church

The Connexional Safeguarding Team hosted a Zoom webinar on the topic of Dementia-Friendly churches back in November. I joined this webinar and was so impressed with the information, variety of speakers and suggestions on small changes that could be made to make our churches Dementia friendly. This webinar is now available to view on YouTube.

Areas covered included:

-) Dementia awareness raising,
-) the theology of personhood and spirituality in dementia,
-) safeguarding vulnerable adults with dementia
-) practical tips on making our church buildings more dementia-friendly,
-) advice on understanding 'challenging' behaviours and
-) positive stories from Methodist churches who already are leading in this area.

speakers are:

Revd Vicci Davidson is Superintendent Minister of the Thames Valley Circuit, currently piloting a monthly service for those living with dementia: "Teatime for the Soul".

Sara Wilcox - founder and CEO of the charity Pathways Through Dementia (PTD). She previously worked at the Court of Protection, as an advocate for people living with dementia, and at Alzheimer's Society.

Julie Peek is a Mission Enabler for Older People within the Southend & Leigh circuit part of Beds, Essex and Herts District. Creator of Memory Worship, a worship for those with and without dementia that in 2017 was awarded the Premier Radio Love Britain and Ireland Award for working with older people.

Revd Philip Wagstaff is currently the Superintendent Minister of the Hastings, Bexhill and Rye circuit.

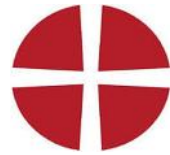

Sara Wilcox is the founder and CEO of the charity Pathways Through Dementia (PTD). She previously worked at the Court of Protection, as an advocate for people living with dementia, and at Alzheimer's Society as their Legal & Welfare officer.

Susan Wishart is a qualified and registered social worker, she is one of the District Safeguarding Officers in Yorkshire West.

Revd Dr Patricia Malham began her professional life as a Psychiatrist before moving into general practice for 20 years. Her special interest was always in mental illness and dementia.

John Swinton is an ordained minister of the Church of Scotland and Master of Christ's College, the university's theological college. In 2016 he was awarded the Michael Ramsey Prize for theological writing for his book Dementia: Living in the Memories of God.

I urge you to take a look.LB

Serve

We will help people in our communities and beyond

“Who is my neighbour?” was the question a lawyer posed to Jesus.

In response, Jesus told the parable of the Good Samaritan – a moving story of a man who acted with compassion towards another who had been attacked and robbed (Luke 10:25-37).

The surprise in the story is that the neighbour is neither the person next door nor someone in the village. The shock in the story is that the person showing kindness is Samaritan, a member of a group despised by many Jews.

In using a parable, Jesus shifts the notion of neighbour away from locality to the arena of need, and compassionate action. Anyone you come across might be a neighbour to you. You are being a good neighbour when you help a person in need.

Being a good neighbour can be the simple action of ) lending a garden tool to the woman next door

-) talking to someone on a train
-) volunteering at the local hospice
-) lending an ear to a work colleague facing a difficult situation.

In all of these things the service is mutual: both sides give and receive.

Churches have a good record of serving their communities. Church buildings are often meeting places for many community groups. In addition, the church may support coffee mornings, toddler groups, luncheon clubs, uniformed organisations and many other activities.

Lets continue to serve in Jesus' name.
